

OFF WITH HIS HEAD!

The executioner's argument was, that you couldn't cut off a head unless there was a body to cut it off from: that he had never had to do such a thing before, and he wasn't going to begin at HIS time of life.

The King's argument was, that anything that had a head could be beheaded, and that you weren't to talk nonsense.

The Cat's head began fading away the moment he was gone, and, by the time he had disappeared, so the King and the executioner ran wildly up and down looking for it, while

the executioner res

of the King with the

the King's

I'd rather not.